

14th Annual Neuropsychology Research Day

September 23, Friday, 2016

9:30 AM – 4:00 PM

Rosenthal Library Auditorium, Rm 230, Ground Floor
Queens College, CUNY

Conference topics will include:

Developmental Disabilities
Depression
Epigenetics
Stress
Visual Processing
Drugs of Addiction
Dopamine and Behavior
Neural Plasticity
Adult Neurogenesis
Learning & Memory
Feeding Behaviors
Attention

Behaviors to Neurons

Neurons to Behaviors

Keynote Address:

1:00-2:00

BJ Casey, Ph.D.

Professor of Psychology, Yale University, New Haven, CT

The Adolescent Brain: “Arrested” or Adaptive Development

About the conference:

Talks will start at 9:30 and run throughout the day with a lunch break from 12:00-1:00. The KEYNOTE ADDRESS will be 1:00-2:00. Each talk is about 15 minutes, presented by Neuropsychology, graduate students and undergraduates about the research in their laboratories. Come for all or part of the event.

Students interested in Neuropsychology and Neuroscience research at Queens College are welcome to attend, no registration necessary
Free and open to the public

For questions, more information please contact Dr. Carolyn Pytte
Carolyn.Pytte@qc.cuny.edu

The full program will be linked on the QC Psychology Dept website